Editorial

The first art exhibition for the year featured local artist Lou D'Alise and her collection of paintings, charcoal etc.. which featured two outstanding triptychs of the Fleurieu were well received by the art enthusiasts present.

The exhibition was launched by STARS friend Robert Brokenshire who talked about Louise and her hard work in featuring two triptychs depicting sustainability, a passion of the artist. Louise thanked Robert and STARS and her family for their support and relayed that her work is aimed at teaching her children to be aware of the environment as they progress from children to adults.
