The Stars Committee wishes all STARS members a wonderful festive season and a happy and healthy New Year of 2014.

The New Year is in the planning stage and members are invited to give input to the desired content of the next programme.

From December 24, Carolyn and Peter Colling will be retiring from their business that has been in existence for 14 years at The Chocolate Box and will no longer be the contact point for STARS. Details of how the contact will continue will be in the next edition. They are still in residence in Willunga and will continue with the passion and commitment that has been their aim and pleasure to fulfil as STARS volunteers.

Editorial

The Committee of Southern Theatre and Arts Supporters has experienced a very busy year with many highlights, culminating in the Christmas Gala in November. The night was an outstanding event with performances from favourites like Lucinda Moon, Emma Hills and Farmers Market Choir as well as a lot of humour. The event was to raise funds for the STARS of Waverley Award which was announced on the night. The winner was a local young girl Indigo-Rose Redding a Year 12 visual arts student and her work featuring a full length costume made out of recycled material which she wore on the night. The decision to award Indigo the main prize was a unanimous one.

Meredith Bowman the co-ordinator of the judging panel explained the procedure that was followed to ascertain the winner and Jason Haskett Arts and Cultural Development at Onkaparinga Council awarded the prize of $1500 to Indigo.

The award will be open early next year with new age criteria and STARS committee are currently preparing the 2014 programme with funds going to the STARS of Waverley Award 2014.
