The Cancer Morning Tea held on 14 May attracted the largest crowd at such an event. 60 women crammed into the Homestead and awaited their tea and coffee. Shortly after the 10.30 am start, there was a power failure so those who did not have their tea had to wait. The Little Sisters of Abundance performed a bracket of 30 minutes with recorder, guitar etc. while we waited for the electrician. Meanwhile, Judith Barr had sent the hot water to the Golf Club in a buggy and of course the power was restored before the water arrived. After much chaos and laughter Nancy read her poem and Judith judged the Best Dressed Star and that was Penny Davis who was Audrey Hepburn for the day. Nancy returned to draw the raffle but disguised as Dame Edna with gladdies and all.

The day resulted in a great monetary success with in excess of $800 going to Cancer Council. Thanks to Diana Perry for her tree and all of the other prize givers.

“The Magic Flute” – Co-Opera at McLaren Vale Institute on Saturday 16 May had an audience of 160 enthusiastic Co-Opera lovers and seating was fairly limited to accommodate the huge scaffolding that was the set. The director Tessa Bremner was a special guest as well as sponsors Diana Genders of Gender Wines and Kay Logan from Bendigo Bank. Brian Chatterton the musical director was at his brilliant best. The cast was outstanding with The Queen of the Night a highlight as well as Sidonie Henbest and Grace Bawden as sisters hamming it up. The show was humorous, silly, poignant and brilliant and the audience cheered at the end.

STARS Catering committee presented a wonderful picnic pack of gourmet food guided by Jo Pavey and Joannie Lunn and a troupe of helpers and Hugh Hamilton Wines, swine sponsors of the event presented some great wines.

All STARS committee and friends worked for many hours to ensure that the night was a huge success. Thank you to everyone..

The Executive Dean at the University of Adelaide is threatening to discontinue classical voice as a subject from 2016 on. This is disastrous news for any young singer intending to pursue any sort of solo career
Where would Co Opera and State Opera be without a Conservatorium training young singers?
If you are concerned about this please view the site below and sign the petition.
